

Autumn Borsellino, CEMF Ambassador Undergraduate_Prairies Region

Hello! My name is Autumn Borsellino and I am a Civil Engineering student at the University of Alberta.

I am incredibly honored to be selected as this year's Regional (Prairies) recipient of the Canadian Engineering Memorial Foundation Ambassador award. As a young woman pursuing a career in STEM, I stand on the shoulders of the brilliant female scientists of our past. I have always been driven to one-day add to the cumulative legacy of these women, both by contributing to technical breakthroughs, and by supporting girls with a flourishing interest in the engineering field. I feel honored to receive the title of CEMF Ambassador as I feel my involvement in this organization will increase my reach.

In the future, I will continue to mentor students from ages 4-16 in STEM-related projects while developing my professional skills. For the remainder of my Undergraduate studies, I plan to continue performing structural research, eventually leading a Masters degree in Structural Engineering and Architecture.

I want to thank the CEMF for epitomizing the natural benefit of inclusivity and cooperation in science-based fields. Most of all, I would like to thank the CEMF selection committee for believing in me. I am extremely grateful, passionate, and driven to contribute to the goals of the foundation and am excited for what the future holds."
